

Evan Rourke, CFA

Municipal Portfolio Manager

Evan Rourke is a vice president of Eaton Vance Management and municipal portfolio manager on Eaton Vance's tax-advantaged bond strategies team. He is responsible for buy and sell decisions, portfolio construction and risk management for the firm's tax-advantaged bond strategies. He joined Eaton Vance in 2009.

Evan began his career in the investment management industry in 1987. Before joining Eaton Vance, he was a vice president in the tax-exempt fixed-income group of M.D. Sass Investors Services and senior vice president in charge of Banco Popular's municipal arbitrage account. He was previously affiliated with Prudential Securities, Kidder, Peabody & Co., Paine Webber and Municipal Arbitrage Applications.

Evan earned a B.A. from Stony Brook University and an online MBA from the University of Phoenix. He is a CFA charterholder.